Did you know?

Preparation for the SAT exam has historically raised a student's test score.

The New SAT is aligned with the goals of the Common Core curriculum

The format of the New SAT exam is dramatically different from the old exam and suggests a different strategic approach to maximize scoring

Capital District Consulting's SAT Prep offers overall test strategy, math and English review. We utilize neurologically based, well researched concentration and stress reduction techniques that you won't find anywhere else.

Capital District Consulting is better because:

- Instructors are well versed with the format of the new exam
- come right to your area
- are reasonably priced
- offer SAT Prep at convenient times
